Aiki Homes Featured in American Builders Quarterly Magazine

"American Builders Quarterly (ABQ) brings its readers a comprehensive look at our nation's entire construction industry by profiling leading companies that consistently perform in all aspects of the building trade. Within the pages of ABQ, readers find unique editorial departments devoted to superficial issues within the industry."

Aiki Homes attends National Green Building Conference in New Orleans!

Rose Lathrop from Aiki Homes, recently attended the National Green Building Conference in New Orleans bringing back information on the latest green building techniques and materials. Aiki Homes is constantly striving to lead Whatcom County's green building movement. To do that, Aiki must always be on the forefront of cutting edge technology. Go Green is one of the best opportunities in the country to understand where the green building industry is heading and how Aiki Homes will be able to bring that to our clients.

Thank you to the Building Industry Association of Whatcom County Built Green Program for making it happen!
